U. S. Ambassador Evacuates Headquarters in Nanking

Envoy and Fleet Commander Believed to Have Disagreed

[BULLETIN]
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Secretary Hull announced today that the United States had made representations to Japan in protest against that nation's announced intention to bomb Nanking from the air.

Associated Press Writer

NANKING, Sept. 21.—United States Ambassador Nelson Johnson and his staff evacuated the Chinese capital today with the expiration of the Japanese ultimatum that foreign lives would not be spared in their efforts to destroy "the base of Chinese resistance."

Three hours after the hour of grace passed at noon, not a Japanese plane had appeared over the tensely silent city but the United States gun boat Luzon with the ambassador and his staff sailed up the Yangtze.

Secretary On Duty
J. Pexton, veteran embassy second secretary, remained on duty at the legation as the volunteer protector of American interests.

With him were 17 American civilians holding the building against the threat of devastating Japanese aerial bombardment.

The gun boat Guam remained at her anchorage in the river to guard the Americans remaining in the city from the danger implied by Japanese indications that only the utter destruction of the Chinese capital would end their raids.

Pexton volunteered to stay at his post, and with my wife, myself and 15 other American civilians took over the embassy building. We are without servants but have sufficient food supplies for three months. There are only four women in our group and no children.

The American embassy and the Italian embassy were the only two to heed the Japanese warning that to remain in the capital might mean death. Other foreign diplomats refused to evacuate and counterwarned that the Japanese government would be held responsible.

Hopes Are Revived For Missing Fliers

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Sept. 21.—Reports natives saw fliers off the Barrow coast ten days ago spurred Soviet Pilot Alexei Graciansky and his crew as they prepared to take off today in a new search for the six missing Soviet fliers.

Rumors were current here today that fliers had also been sighted a few days ago by the Russian ice breaker Krasin 200 miles west of Barrow.

The possibility was considered here the fliers were made by setting fire to small quantities of gasoline.

Fears that Sir Hubert Wilkins and his crew met with a mishap while searching for the missing fliers were dissipated late yesterday when the explorer's party returned and radio communication with northern bases.

Veterans Honor Legion Queen

NEW YORK VIEWS LEGION PARADE

Streets Packed by Thousands For 18-Hour Procession

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Fifth day for 100,000 ex-doughboys marching gayly up the same flag-decked street they tramped 19 years ago, fresh from victory in France.

The parade, climaxing the American Legion's 19th convention, although formal sessions will last for two more days, was called by Legion officials the greatest in the history of the organization.

Thousands View Parade
Packed and impressed thousands, watching the endless lines of bright-clad veterans and their wives, sons and daughters, agreed.

With the fresh step of two decades ago, the ex-service men— heavier, grayer, but lifted once again by the mystic tale which sent them on warlike pilgrimage to defend democracy in lands afar—marched smartly to the blare of 1,000 drum and bugle corps, and bands.

The colorful procession, marching between close-packed lanes of approximately 1,000,000 spectators whose cheers at times drowned bugle scream and drum beat, formed at Madison Square (24th street) and disbanded at 79th street.

Police officials, dispatching 5,971 policemen and detectives along the line of march to keep the vast crowd in order, estimated that the parade, with Legionnaires marching 16 abreast, would last 18 hours.

The route led past the Empire State building, world's tallest skyscraper, at 34th street, then through the world-famous Fifth avenue shopping district and, in the last 20 blocks, past exclusive residences bordering Central park.

Salem Musicians With Capital Band

Two Ohio units placed among the first five in the American Legion band contest in New York last night which was won by St. Louis Musicians post No. 394 Franklin, post No. 1 of Columbus was third and Canton No. 44, fifth. Playing with the Columbus post band were Raymond Bartholomew and Lester Baldinger of Salem, who have competed in national and state contests as members of the Franklin post unit for a number of years.

Massillon post No. 21 was rated 12th in the drum and bugle corps finals with a 93.425 percentage. The winner was post No. 442 of San Gabriel, Calif., with 98.325. Massillon post No. 21 scored 92.375 in the afternoon preliminaries in which four Ohio corps were eliminated with the following ratings: Elyria, 90.95; Cleveland Heights, 89.50; Norwood, 87.25; and Alliance, 84.05.

The Youngtown Sons squadron No. 472 placed 15th in that division with an 81 rating. The winner was Des Moines, Ia., post No. 274.

The justice made a dash by auto to Southampton late yesterday and caught the small ship, City of Norfolk, two minutes before she sailed.

He had cancelled reservations aboard the Manhattan when news of his departure became public, and quietly booked passage on the smaller ship, shipping circles said.

The justice, with Mrs. Black, had been vacationing here and was seen much about London until the question of Klan membership was raised. Then he demanded privacy and refused for the remaining week of his stay to make any comment for publication.

A Good Hunch
JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—During a violent thunderstorm, Dr. T. E. Johnson suddenly felt a premonition all was not well at home, where his wife and 9-day-old baby were alone.

GOSNEY FINDS "NO EVIDENCE OF GAMBLING"

Sheriff Reports Visits to Various "Spots" in County

PROMISES AID IN
GRAND JURY PROBE

Three Steubenville Men
Held in Marino Investigation

LISBON, Sept. 21.—Sheriff Harry L. Gosney and Deputies John Herman, Mike Duty and Otto Stacey visited "spots" in the county Monday night where, they said, gambling devices were likely to be exhibited, following Judge W. F. Lones' order yesterday morning to a grand jury to investigate gambling in Columbiana county.

The sheriff announced "we found no evidence of gambling" during our trip.

Pledges Cooperation
Gosney added, however, "we will cooperate 100 per cent with any findings the grand jury may return" in connection with the activities of gambling operators.

The grand jurors may probe slot machines and marble boards in the county for Judge Lones was quoted as saying in this connection "slot machine operation makes gangs, and gangs make murders."

Prosecutor Karl T. Stouffer, busy with the grand jury session, could not be reached for a statement.

Two murders which occurred in the county within the last two months were attributed to the activities of gambling operators. One of the victims was Roy (Happy) Marino, Youngstown gambler and ex-convict. The other, also believed slain as the result of a "racket" case, has never been identified.

His body was found near Lisbon in July. Marino's bullet-riddled body was found in a ditch near Rogers Sept. 10.

Arrest Steubenville Men
Meanwhile, three Steubenville men were held at Youngstown today for questioning in connection with the gang killing of Marino.

The suspects, two of them brothers and the third a 21-year-old youth, were arrested early this morning at Steubenville.

Mahoning county Detective John Callan said two dynamite caps were found in possession of one of the men.

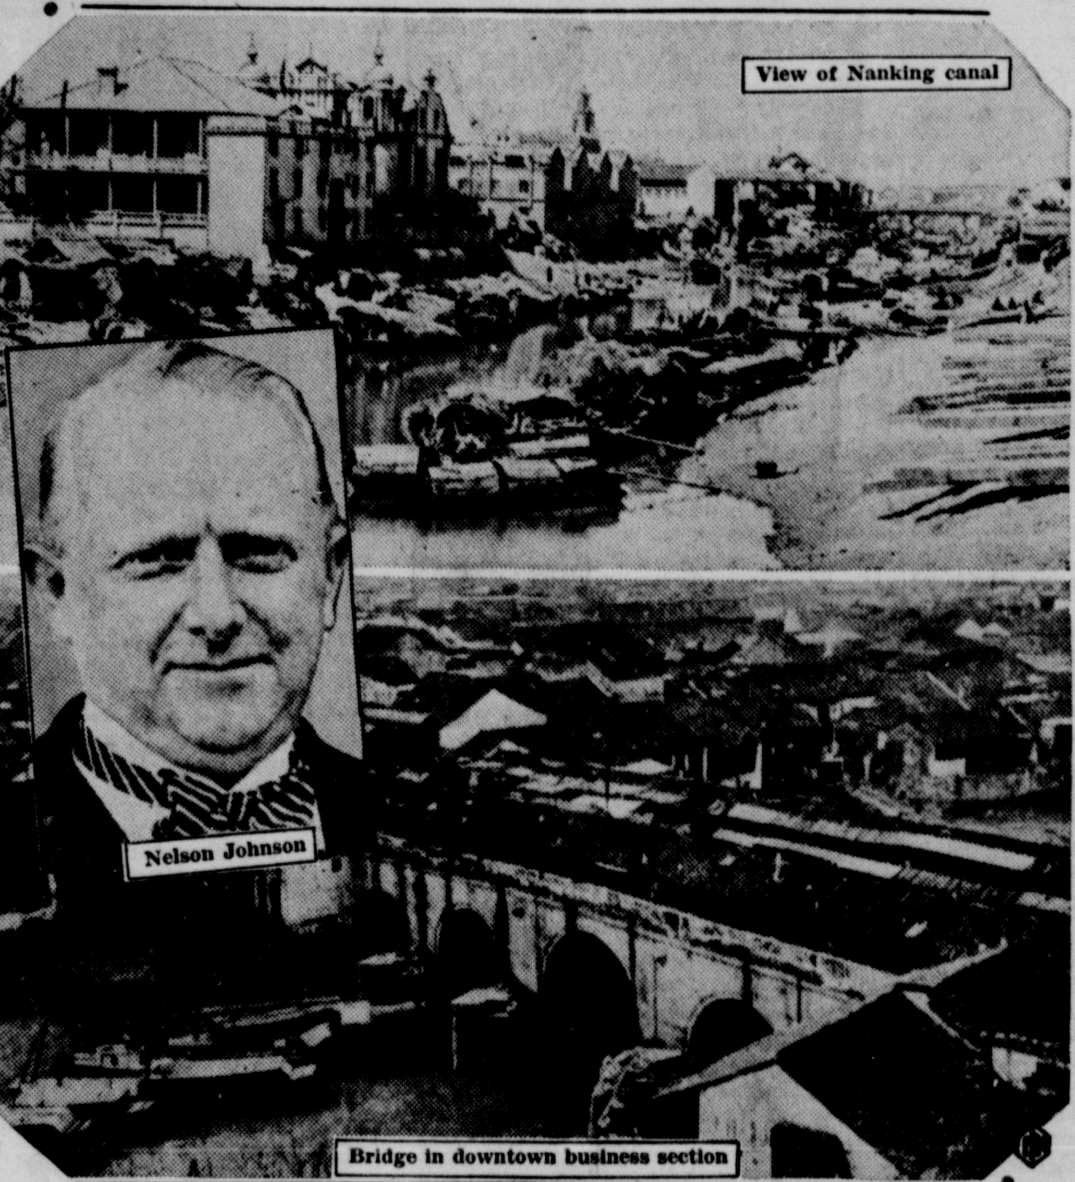

While declining to comment on the arrests, Callan said the three will be questioned at length.

Village and Rural Schools Get Funds

Party Strategists From Ten Cities Rally in Washington

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Party strategists from ten cities gathered at Republican headquarters today to outline a campaign for recapitulating votes and congressional seats in key urban areas.

The meeting of Republican chairmen from cities and counties with more than 500,000 population—the first of its kind—was a prelude to a conference Thursday of the executive committee and officers of the National Republican committee.

Hilles Resigns
Just before they assembled, the leaders learned of the resignation of the veteran Charles D. Hilles as national committeeman from New York.

His retirement and the recent death of J. Henry Roraback, Connecticut committeeman, materially reduced the ranks of the "old guard" chieftains who once controlled the party machinery.

Hilles, who is 70 and a former national chairman, said he wished to quit now so that his successor can get a "running start" for the 1940 presidential campaign. "The plans of which must be determined

School officials are at a loss to find enough cars to transport the gridders to Columbus. Faculty Manager Frederick E. Cope today appealed to fans to help in the transportation problem. Persons driving cars will be given free tickets to the game, Cope said.

ARMY MAN IS KILLED IN STREET

Three Brothers of His Former Fiancee
Surrender

(By Associated Press)
SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 21.—Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, due to go on trial again today on charges of murdering his fiancée, was shot to death here last night.

The three brothers of comely Mrs. Verne Garr Taylor, whom the bald, portly, 61-year-old former adjutant general and former lieutenant governor of Kentucky was alleged to have slain, surrendered immediately after the shooting, which occurred on the main street of this rich, small tobacco town in the blue grass.

No Charges Filed
They were jailed without formal charges being filed against them. Denhardt, "stormy petrel" of Kentucky politics, who had survived three wars and had been wounded in a political controversy in Bowling Green in 1931, died of several bullet wounds without making a statement.

Patrolman Jephtha Tracey said Roy Garr admitted firing the fatal shots. He was jailed along with his two brothers, Dr. E. S. Garr and Jack Garr.

Tracey said Roy Garr declared "I did it" as he turned over a .45 calibre revolver with two shells discharged.

The patrolman said he took a .38 calibre revolver from Dr. Garr with all the shells discharged. Neither Jack Garr nor Denhardt was armed.

The killing occurred after Denhardt and one of his attorneys, Rodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, had ended a conference regarding the scheduled trial today at nearby New Castle.

Myers, who was with Denhardt, said the firing began as "we started across the street to the hotel."

Free From Guns
"When I told General Denhardt there are the Garr boys," Denhardt ran toward the hotel and I dashed in another direction. The first two shots missed. Another struck the general in the back and he fell near the hotel entrance."

Myers said Roy Garr shouted "You are the—who killed my sister and I am going to kill you."

One of the brothers approached him, Myers said.

He said he raised his hands and pleaded, "please don't shoot me. I haven't done anything to you."

"You are the—who killed the attorney who killed the brother as shouting."

Another version of the assassination was given by 13-year-old Bruce Tracey, one of the few persons on the street at the time.

He said he was walking behind Denhardt and Myers when he saw

Funeral Planned For "Daddy" Allen

Funeral service will be held in Elyria at 2 p. m. Wednesday for Edgar P. Allen, 75, known in Salem, and, in fact the world over, as Daddy Allen, because of his work for crippled children. He died at his home in Elyria yesterday after a long illness.

A successful business man, Mr. Allen became an international figure when he retired from active business 30 years ago to engage in humanitarian work, first fruits of which was his founding of Elyria Memorial hospital.

Then followed successively his founding of Gates Hospital for Crippled Children, then organization of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and lastly the International Society for Crippled Children, of which he was president emeritus at his death.

The Salem Rotary club for many years has been active in behalf of crippled children.

TROUBLES WITH NEUTRALITY

The United States is "discovering" the plainly evident truth that neutrality has no friends, but many enemies. This country's so-called neutrality law, which should have been called an anti-war law, to prevent confusion, is not proving easy to administer. To some, that seems proof it is a bad law based on a false premise; i. e., that neutrality (avoidance of war) is possible. Before taking that position, however, account should be taken of several facts closely related to the subject of neutrality.

First, neutrality is a modern invention. In the old days, there was no such thing. All nations were divided as to friends and foes. Neutrality is, therefore, an experimental policy, without precedent to guide it.

Second, Woodrow Wilson's vision of international solidarity (the League of Nations) was opposed to the theory of neutrality on which the United States depended at the outset of the World War. Mr. Wilson, himself, said there would be no neutrals in the next war.

But his League of Nations did not establish international solidarity. It has been plain for many years that any nation wanting to stay out of war would have to depend on something else. The United States, which had not entered the League, found itself without any definite international policy.

It has been trying to arrive at an understanding with itself, but without conspicuous success. Consequently, it is making up its policy as it goes along. Naturally, it is finding no friends outside its own borders. Every nation at war, or in imminent danger of going to war, is opposed to American determination to stay out of war.

This lack of support should not be interpreted, under any circumstances, as an indication of weakness. Rather, it is the one sure sign that foreign governments are genuinely disturbed by their inability to entangle the United States in their plans for the great slaughter now beginning in Spain, in the Mediterranean and in China.

STRONG-ARM GANGS

Two strong-arm gangs, the Ku Klux Klan and the American Nazis, have had an opportunity to find out in the last few days where they stand with the American public.

The Kluxers, particularly, have been told in words of one syllable that they smell to heaven and can strangle themselves in their nightshirts any time without exciting a tear. The Nazis, a bit more advanced in their fascism and much more obscure in their operations, are being sniffed at by J. Edgar Hoover's G-men and can look forward to legal treatment when congress reconvenes.

But the pity of it is that neither they nor the Kluxers will be able to get it through their skulls why Americans don't go-goo over them. Both gangs are composed largely of simple men who intend to do the United States a lot of good.

They intend to do this good by serving as vigilantes, independently of the government—serving their own special causes which they believe should be, also, the causes of all the people. Their bigotry and prejudice prevent them from understanding that the United States has no room for strong-arm gangs and that a thug can't make himself respectable by wearing a black shirt or a white sheet.

NAVY CONSCIOUS

Japan, its island territory a potential target for every battleship in the world, can't be blamed for being navy-conscious.

Japanese have built the third largest navy in the world. They need a large navy in their business, they explain.

It is clearer now what they mean than it used to be. Chinese withdrawal from Shanghai is a pointed lesson.

The Chinese, weak in artillery and with no navy worth mentioning, found themselves fighting Japan's navy at long range and its land troops at short range in Shanghai. Having withdrawn some 25 miles from the waterfront, the Chinese hope to fight on closer to equal terms. The point is, however, that Shanghai now is under Japanese control.

There's no better way to get a big gun into action than to have it mounted on a boat and then to have the boat move to the right place. Japan's big navy is too much for China's waterfront cities. A bigger navy than its own is the one thing Japan fears in the Pacific territory.

Out of deference to the new member, we suppose the opening session of the Supreme Court will be observed by burning a fiery cross in front of the courthouse—Ohio State Journal.

Property damage in Indiana auto accidents averaged $104 during July, but the average number of fractured skulls has not yet been announced.—Indianapolis News.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—One of the better known barbers in mid town is Charles De Zemler, whose shop is in Radio City. De Zemler has tondored the illustrious, not only in New York, but London, Paris and Shepherd's at Cairo. He also owns a famous collection of tonsorialiana.

As have so many others, De Zemler got a puff when he was interviewed on the Rudy Vallee program. His patrons also include Vallee, Fred Allen, Ed C. Hill, Lowell Thomas, Floyd Gibbons and many other stars of the wireless. His shop is also a story-swapping spot for them.

On Broadway for many years the best known tonsor was known as "John the Barber" and he was a figure at all the prize fights and sporting events. There is one millionaire barber—the proprietor of the chains of Terminal Shops, probably the biggest chain in the world.

But only on the lower East Side has the barber shop retained the flavor of the old days. They are still the loafing places of the various neighborhoods for both young and old and a quartette to render "By the Old Mill Stream" may be organized on a moment's notice.

In our town we had mostly colored barbers—Jim and Dude Robinson and Tom Hill. All highly respected, owned their shops and pleasant homes out by the depot. Our only white barber was Mr. Feé, whose daughters became barbers in a day when lady barbering was a novelty. Several nearby city papers sent reporters to write them up. New York once tried out a barber shop with all feminine workers—five beautiful blondes on one side and five equally beautiful brunettes on the other. But it failed. Crowds would stand out front to watch, but not a single customer came in. Finally in desperation "shills" were employed, to act as bell wethers, but nothing could be done, and it closed in several weeks.

A fortune in ash trays is swiped from New York restaurants, tea rooms and night clubs daily. Souvenir hunters regard ash trays as legitimate loot and suffer no twinge in such larcenies. Proprietors tried to embarrass them by embossing the trays with "Stolen from Blank's Cafe," but that only made the pilfering seem more of a prank.

Some large hotels have appraisers who can take a quick glance at a room and tell what is missing before the departing patron reaches the cashier's cage. If anything of value, it is hurriedly slapped on the bill without explanation. And those thus trapped usually give birth to a blush suggesting the Neapolitan sunset and pay without a cheep.

When wolf hungry, my choice for a midnight snack is one of those lunch wagons set middle-wise on West street and close to the vegetable and meat markets. Here the real life versions of Wallace Beery and Jimmy Cagney eat in shirt sleeves with hats on. Coffee is—as it should be—in thick cups. The neck of the catsup bottle is often gummy and a despairing cockroach may have decided to end all in the mustard, but the food has a tang. At least around midnight if you're hungry.

Robert C. Benchley does not seem able to make up his mind about careering—whether to remain within call of the studios in Hollywood or occupy his usual seat on the aisle as a critic. When the theatrical season opens he always rounds in to join the Death Watch, although those who know say he can at any time he desires attach himself to a movie contract as either an actor or a writer. His desertion of the critical circle would remove the theatres' most accomplished laughter. Laughing out loud is taboo with most critics, but when Benchley's funny bone is tickled he uncorks a guffaw that seems to start at about Seattle and heads East with a roar.

Plain cussedness, senility or something has made it almost impossible for the stage to wangle a laugh from me any more. Yet Mickey Mouse makes me fit to be tied and W. C. Fields and Grace Allen put me in stitches. It may be because the new stage humor is largely the George S. Kaufman type of sneers. I still like my humor broad. A whang on the sit spot with a resounding slap stick is pretty much up my alley.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, September 22

According to the lunar transits, this should be a particularly lively and enterprising day both in the business and personal affairs. It is a good time for launching new enterprises or a readjustment or rebuilding on old lines that have been more or less static. Industry, practical plans and bold initiative are sure to find worthwhile compensations.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active year in the developing of new projects or the building up of long stagnant conditions, with initiative, hard work and constructive ideas proving highly gratifying. It is a time for pushing to determined objectives. Social, romantic and domestic affairs also prove active and pleasant, with friendship, love and gaiety to the fore.

A child born on this day may be bold, courageous and enterprising with much inclination to active sports, in which it will doubtless achieve public recognition and popularity. It will be aggressive and constructive in business if inclined in that direction for an outlet in its energies.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

BATHING
NAPOLEON BONAPARTE was a remarkable character, noted for his military knowledge. Few persons know, I assume, that this great general was familiar with many of the secrets of hygiene and good health.

Dr. Copeland

Yet, his biographers record that when he was tired and needed relaxation and refreshment, he always resorted to a hot bath. Napoleon is quoted as saying,

"water, air and cleanliness are my favorite medicines." All physicians will agree that this prescription is an excellent one.

Neglect in Use

Despite the modern advances in plumbing, ventilation and other facilities that far outdistance those existing in the days of Napoleon, we still are confronted with many diseases and disorders that can be traced to neglect of body cleanliness. It is difficult to believe that such could be the case. Surely there is no lack of facilities, but in a great many instances, I fear, there is neglect to use them.

Soap and warm water in generous quantities make an excellent antiseptic. These health-giving substances are available to everyone. They destroy grime, dirt, dust and micro-organisms.

In addition to the cleansing properties of soap and water, a warm tub or shower is relaxing and beneficial. At the end of a busy day it is invigorating to have a bath. Further, it helps to keep the pores clean and aids the elimination of body wastes. The bath is of value for everyone, equally beneficial for the young and the aged.

Added incentive recently pointed out that the daily bath for the young child can be made more enjoyable and actually attractive by furnishing large cakes of soap and providing certain tub toys to attract and amuse the child while in his bath. The shops discovered this long ago. Many soaps are now manufactured with caricatures of the leading comic characters so familiar to the child of today. These objects often serve as an attraction to the youngster who otherwise might become stubborn about taking the daily bath.

For the aged, the bath should be given daily and with particular attention to the temperature of the water. Extreme temperatures of hot and cold should be avoided. For the aged person, it is best to have a tub of moderate temperature, preferably lukewarm.

The recent washouts didn't affect the Eden Valley Railroad note. The "commotion ain't runnin", same as usual.

The politicians who wanted to make a scrap of the Constitution are findin' a scrap all right—right back home with their constituents.

Bear in mind that the cold tub is stimulating and tends to contract blood vessels; a warm bath is relaxing and promotes sleep and relaxation. For this reason a warm tub is often the one of choice at night prior to going to bed. It helps prevent sleeplessness. In the morning, upon arising, a cool tub may be the one of choice.

"THE CAPTIVE BRIDE"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER LI

Denny finished her packing about midnight. A few minutes later Rio knocked on her door, calling softly, "Are you still up?"

Denny was in no mood to see the woman now, or ever. But when the tapping persisted, she finally admitted her.

"Mercy, Denny! Don't look at me like that. I won't keep you up long. Her quick eyes took in the array of suitcases in the middle of the sitting-room floor. "So you're really going?"

Denny nodded curtly, watching the other for signs of elation.

After hesitating a moment, Rio looked at her steadily. "Tell me something," she blurted. "What was on your mind tonight when you spoke of this situation resolving itself happily for all concerned?"

Denny grew warm with resentment. Why—nothing in particular. Stocks and such things go up again sometimes, don't they?"

"Don't stall, my dear. You can't get away with it, with the eyes you've got. They're too expressive. You've got some quaint idea about Revelry and me—haven't you?"

"Really, Mrs. Carew," Denny began indignantly, "your intrusion into my private affairs is—"

"I know. It's the limit," agreed Rio promptly. "But since you're going in the morning, this is my last chance to set some things straight between us. I'm butting in now because—well, because I like you, Denny. I wouldn't bother if I believed you to be the little snob you appear to be sometimes. But underneath I know you're a regular person, and—"

"I don't care what you think of me!" Denny interrupted angrily. "Furthermore, your relations with Captain Bourne don't concern me at all. At the least, but don't imagine that either of you are deceiving me. I had, by accident, a most illuminating glimpse of you two together in the living room one night when you thought everyone else had gone up to bed."

"U-m-m-m! So that's what the matter! Well, if you saw that little scene, you saw your husband administering the meanest slap in the face any man can give a woman's pride—and making me like it."

Denny bit her lip to keep back a contemptuous disbelieving retort, but her face must have betrayed her feeling; for Rio continued:

"No, I'm not lying. If you had seen the end of our interview you would know I'm not. I don't deny I've grown fond of Rev. He's a real man."

"Now, I didn't sneak downstairs that night you mention, as you're perhaps thinking. When you and Rev took the Commander to the door to say good night, I went out into the kitchen for a bite of lunch, but when you came back, I didn't go to you, either, because I had a book with me and was reading as I ate. But at the end you raised your voice, so that I couldn't help hearing you tell Rev you intended getting rid of him as soon as you could. When you went upstairs I almost ready to run. He'll have to shut down that unit in five minutes."

The ridge of Bourne's jaw went pale. "So that's what Jack was waiting for!" he said. "Shan! Take the wheel!"

Catching the speaking tube from Harp, he called into it. "Felix! How's the port engine? . . . Okay. Good. Cut both units to less than half speed. I'll ring again in a few minutes. Then give me every turn you've got—for just half a minute."

The roar of the engines died. Speed fell from the Maid like a dropped cloak. Bourne slammed the tube on its hook and stepping out of the pilothouse to the left wing of the bridge, stood there looking back at the Taku Wind, now rapidly overtaking him.

As the boat drew near, Pagé swung her in close and thrust his dark head from the window, grinning. "What's wrong, Rev? Got keep in your wheel?" His jocular shout rose above the panting of his exhausts.

Bourne threw out both arms; then jabbed his thumbs downward to indicate his trouble below.

Your Checking Account IS A "BARGAIN"

The average amount which a bank can earn today from a $100 checking balance is about 21c a month.

All you could buy for 21c—without a checking account—would be a single $80 post office money-order.

Yet, as a checking depositor, you get safety, convenience, prestige, and the use of valuable facilities which only a bank can provide. Even if you were required to pay a small service charge for not maintaining a required balance, you must admit that you would still be getting a "bargain".

Balloting Is Light In Columbus, Toledo

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—Despite ideal weather, light voting marked today's city primary to select candidates for 16 municipal offices.

Board of election observers indicated that on the basis of balloting during the first five hours only about 30,000 persons would visit the polls. The normal vote for Columbus during a state election is 30,000.

Last minute charges and denials issued by Republican aspirants for the city attorney nomination added interest to the primary, but were not expected to materially increase the vote.

TOLEDO, Sept. 21.—Despite fair weather and one of the largest registrations for a special election ever recorded here, voting in Toledo's election to do away with the nine man council and proportional representation was light.

Election observers estimated that some 65,000 ballots would be cast by 122,000 eligible voters before the day was over.

The issue: Shall Toledo's city charter be amended to return to a 21-man council, elected by wards, shall the law director be elected instead of appointed, additional civil service protection.

GEN. DENHARDT SHOT TO DEATH

Slain On Street; Three Brothers of Former Fiancee Held

three men get out of a motor car and "started toward Myers and the general."

At the first shot, Tracey said, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and Myers fled down the street. The general fell on the steps leading to the hotel entrance.

Shot Him Again

He said one of the men walked to the prostrate body of the general and shot him again.

"Another man pointed a pistol at Myers, who had come back with his hands up," the boy declared.

Coroner D. F. L. Lapsley returned a verdict that Denhardt died from a "bullet wound through the head and another through the heart."

An undertaker, however, said Denhardt had been wounded seven times.

Commonwealth's attorney H. B. Kinsolving, Jr., of Henry county (New Castle), who prosecuted Denhardt on the Taylor charge last spring, ordered that nobody be allowed to talk to the Garr brothers. Kinsolving said that when the Denhardt case was called at New Castle today he would officially inform the court of the killing and move that the case be dismissed.

Attorney General Hubert S. Meredith at Frankfort sent state policemen to take charge of the investigation and informed Myers his office would take over the case. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the general.

Denhardt contended the vivacious La Grange widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the general, who was divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the general slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters, because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

Who Is Hollywood's Most Beautiful Star?

An unofficial survey taken recently in the film colony to determine which star was considered the most outstanding natural beauty in Hollywood resulted in nomination of four, each from a different country and each a different type. While many actresses, aided by camera and cosmetics, appear physically perfect on the screen, there are only a few who can claim perfection in form and face.

And among those who are in this class are Anita Louise, the delicate Dresden china type; Dolores Del Rio, turbulent Latin beauty; Madeleine Carroll, one of England's fairest daughters, and Marlene Dietrich, famed for her perfect figure as well as her mysterious glamour. Another who ranks with Hollywood's most stunning is Billie Dove, though she is no longer acting.

Two Bandits Abduct Motorist In Dayton

DAYTON, Sept. 21.—Two young bandits who, Detective Sergeant M. C. Kirkpatrick said, fitted the description of the two men who escaped from Summit county jail last night, abducted Boyd Isham in his automobile and left him stranded several miles away without his clothes.

Wisconsin Hunting Bandit and His Gang

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 21.—Police warned authorities of all Wisconsin cities today to be on the lookout for Al Brady, Indiana bank bandit, and one of his chief aides, Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., after a Hartford, Wis., filling station operator reported having seen them.

Authorities were informed the men carried two machine guns in the rear seat of their car, and that they paced nervously about as they purchased 10 gallons of gasoline at the filling station last night. They headed toward Milwaukee.

Ray Haselow, station attendant, identified the two men from rogues gallery photographs, police said.

A good description of the men, and the numbers on their Iowa license plates, was broadcast by police. They drove either a black or blue car.

Brady, Shaffer and James Dal-hover, another member of the gang are being hunted by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and state authorities throughout the middle west for four murders and several bank robberies.

Theater Attractions

Jean Muir, Stuart Erwin and Glenda Farrell in a scene from "Dance Charlie Dance", showing at the State theater.

Stuart Erwin has the leading role in "Dance Charlie Dance", which will be seen at the State Wednesday. Jean Muir, Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins, Collette Lyne and other well known players have supporting roles.

The musical numbers are not interpolated, but introduced as part of the plot, which concerns a country boy who buys a show so bad that New York critics think it is intentionally so, and call it the greatest and cleverest satire of the age.

Erwin In Boob Role

Stuart Erwin in the boob role is said to have greater comedy opportunity than in any previous screen part. Jean Muir as the wise stenographer considers this the most suitable role she has ever played.

Allen Jenkins, fresh from a successful role in "The Staging Marine", plays an unscrupulous producer who palms off the flop show on Stuart Erwin. Later he buys it back at the latter's price.

Gary Cooper, Frances Dee, George
Raft, Olympe Bradna, Henry Wilcoxon, Harry Carey and Joseph Schillkraut have leading roles in "Souls at Sea", which concludes tonight at the State theater.

Double Bill at Grand

A double bill is featured at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday following the Sunday-through-Tuesday film, "Borneo", made from pictures taken on the island of Borneo by Martin Johnson and wife.

The two pictures are "She's No Lady" and "Riding on Air", Joe E. Brown comedy.

The story of "She's No Lady" is based on the "thief catch thief" theme and concerns the escapades of Miss Dvorak and Trent in a merry game of trying to outsmart each other.

LISBON GAME SWITCHED TO REILLY STADIUM

6 HOME GAMES NOW ON SALEM GRID PROGRAM

Quakers Continue Preparations For First Game Friday

A change in schedule today gave Salem High school six home football games rather than five as was announced when the Quakers' 1937 grid campaign was first arranged.

The alteration to the schedule is in the Lisbon game, which was originally booked for the Columbus county fairgrounds in Lisbon, Saturday, Oct. 30.

According to the change, revealed today by Faculty Manager Fred Cope, the game will be played at Reilly stadium Friday night, October 29.

It was Lisbon's turn to have the game this season, but the unfavorable condition of the fairgrounds as a playing field prompted Salem High school athletic officials to ask that the contest be switched to Reilly stadium.

Negotiations for the change have been in progress for some time. However, it was not until yesterday that Lisbon school officials accepted Salem's money guarantee.

The amount of the guarantee was not revealed, but authoritative sources said it was considerably larger than the usual $75 paid Lisbon for appearing here when it is Salem's turn for the annual game.

The switch will not cause Salem to give up the game here next season. The contest will again be played at Reilly stadium in 1938, Cope said.

Although the additional home game has been placed on the schedule, no change in the price of season tickets is planned. The season booklets, good for all of the Quakers' home games, will continue to sell for $1.50.

Persons who have already purchased season tickets, good for five home games, will receive a ticket for the Lisbon game if they present their season booklets at the ticket window Friday night when the Quakers open their 1937 campaign against Sebring.

The complete season booklet, and not just one ticket, must be presented in order to receive a ticket for the Lisbon game, Cope declared.

Tentative plans call for the city's annual Halloween celebration, which is sponsored by the American Legion in cooperation with the Salem Business Bureau, to be held Friday night, Oct. 29, in connection with the Salem-Lisbon game. Further details on this are expected to be announced at a later date.

In addition to Lisbon, other home games on the Quakers' schedule are: Sebring, Friday, Sept. 24; Ravenna, Friday, Oct. 1; Wellsville, Friday, Oct. 22; Dover, Saturday, Nov. 6; and Alliance, Thursday, Nov. 25. All Friday games are at night.

Practice in preparation for the opening game continued at Centennial park yesterday with Coach Carl Schroeder giving his charges instruction in new plays. No scrimmage was held.

Schroeder plans to officially name his varsity squad of about 28 players today. The remaining gridriders will be placed on a junior varsity squad, in charge of Frank Gordon, new Junior High athletic instructor, and Lewis Smith, former grid coach.

A number of freshmen and sophomores who have not previously been out for football reported to Gordon and Smith yesterday and prepared to start practice today when they will be joined by some of the less-experienced gridriders who have been practicing at the park under Schroeder and Assistant Coach Ted Jones.

Eight grade gridriders from Junior High school are also expected to join the junior varsity squad today. The junior varsity will practice on the vacant field to the west of Reilly stadium. The varsity squad will continue to hold its practices at the park.

After 21st Win

Youngstown's indoor boxing season opens tonight with Henry Armstrong, sensational Pacific coast heavyweight owned by screen and stage star Al Johnson, meeting Bobby Dean of Washington, D. C. in the headliner of a five bout card. Armstrong will be after his 21st straight K. O. win. The first bout will start at 8:15.

Unbeaten Western Reserve Gridders Face Cincinnati

Red Cats Open 1937 Season By Placing String of 23 Victories On Chopping Block

(By Associated Press)

Rush a large bottle of aspirin, gentlemen, to the University of Cincinnati footballers.

Western Reserve, undefeated for a mere 23 games, will be able to start a veteran team against them Saturday night.

The Bearcats weren't so worse last year but that 7 to 0 defeat Saturday from the little regarded Morehead (Ky.) Teachers had its repercussions in the Ohio river city today.

Russ Cohen said he would shake his lineup around to start Erv Manny and Fred Seibert at tackles, and Harry Shelby and Bill Halzik as guards.

There are four casualties on Reserve's squad, but three of them are Sophomores and Coach Bill Edwards said injuries or no, he'd be able to start a complete outfit of hold-overs against the Cincinnatians if there wasn't any more scrimmage trouble.

Even so, the Cleveland eleven, which started its undefeated string way back in 1934 under the late Sam Williamson, may throw a trio of Sophs against Cincinnati.

They are Frank Crisci at guard, Bfady Sullivan at center and John Lucas at halfback. Joe Scott, the Elyria boy groomed for Ray Zeh's half heaving duties, probably won't start but he'll be in there as a "spot player" before the game is too old.

It was Ohio Wesleyan back in 1935 which administered the only minor blemish to Reserve's unbeaten string—a 7-7 draw—and the Bishops worked hard for their opener against Pittsburgh Saturday.

Wesleyan had a dismal season last year but George Gauthier made a couple of practice changes which he hoped would help right things. He shifted Homer Forsythe, the Cambridge Soph, into the first team backfield and John Rossman of Warren, Pa., into the varsity line at Guard. Even so, it will be a startling upset if the Bishops pull through in their invasion.

The other Ohio outfit which goes far out of its class, on paper, is Ohio university which plays Illinois at Champaign. Don Peden sent his varsity against two freshmen outfits in offensive drills yesterday and then tapered off.

Francis Schmidt put Ohio State through one of the most rigid defensive drills they've seen since he took over his duties, because he fears the offensive power of Texas Christian's Horned Frogs. The workout lasted four hours.

Two more drills were on tap today, possibly a scrimmage in the

ISBELL CARRIES ON FOR PURDUE

Graduation Ended Combination of Drake and Isbell

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Purdue will be represented in this fall's Big Ten grid campaign by only half of its great backfield combination of 1936, but Cecil Isbell apparently is well qualified to carry on where John Drake left off.

Drake and Isbell were recognized as two of the finest backs in the conference last season. Graduation took Drake, but Isbell, a six-foot, 190-pound halfback from Texas, is demonstrating his fitness to pounce the Boltermaker offense. Yesterday's running and passing featured a Purdue scrimmage. The Boltermakers open against Butler Saturday.

Injuries sidelined a number of first stringers at Illinois. Jay Wardley, regular quarterback, is on the sidelines with a sore knee, and may not see action against Ohio university Saturday. The passing of Louis Letts, a sophomore, was a bright note as Chicago went through a brisk scrimmage.

Indiana, prepping for Centre college Saturday, concentrated on new plays. Michigan worked out behind gates locked to spectators. Coach Harry Kipke moved Hercules Renda, a halfback from Joachin, W. Va., up to the varsity squad to replace the injured Bob Cooper.

Injuries prevented Coach Harry Stuhldreher from picking a definite lineup at Wisconsin where Fred Benz, a senior end, was elected captain for the Badgers' opener against South Dakota State Saturday. Iowa, which goes to State Saturday for a tough game with Washington, scrimmaged against reserves.

Northwestern went through a long passing drill and Minnesota came through with more evidence that the Gophers again will be hard to stop. Coach Bernie Bierman's second team pushed over four touchdowns against a group of third stringers.

Coach Francis Schmidt worked his Ohio State Buckeyes on defense, sending his reserves through formations used by Texas Christian, which invades Columbus Saturday. Notre Dame drilled on fundamentals as Coach Elmer Layden expressed dissatisfaction with Saturday's showing by the regulars against a sophomore lineup.

NEWS FROM FIELD AND STREAM

GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO HUNTERS AND FISHERMEN

Five scaups, otherwise known as broadbills and bluebills, "pitching in" near a feeding area are depicted on the 1937 Federal migratory waterfowl hunting stamp which went on sale at all postoffices on July 1. Possession of the stamp is required by law of every migratory waterfowl hunter over 16 years of age. The stamps cost $1.00 each. Open season on ducks in Ohio, Oct. 9 to Nov. 7.

As the hunting season approaches owners of valuable hunting dogs will be faced with increased hazard of having them stolen by persons who will not keep a dog for the entire year, but will steal them for the hunting season, for the expected reward, or for sale in other parts of the country. The Ohio conservation division suggests that owners have photos from both sides made for identification purposes of valuable dogs—they may come in handy to find dogs and prove ownership.

The biennial report of the Conservation Division for 1935-6 is just off the press, and may be had free by interested persons on request. The volume gives a general discussion of the conservation program, financial statements and reports of activities of all divisions.

Hunters may try their luck on the Roosevelt game preserve, Shawnee forest and Scioto trail forest, in Scioto county, this fall, under certain restrictions. Only squirrels, cottontail rabbits and foxes may be taken, in the regular open seasons.

Each hunter will be allowed a maximum of five days hunting on State lands during squirrel season, and six days during rabbit season. Each hunter desiring to hunt must first secure a permit from one of the numerous checking stations.

The average of the Hunt team is now 40% as compared to an average of 37% for Roosevelt's team. The third match of the dinner event will be held this coming Sunday along with the trophy shoot. Scores made in the dinner shoot and the trap and skeet events last Sunday are as follows:

The Trumbull county game protector in reporting the striking of a deer by an auto on a highway there, says that numerous deer are coming over the Ohio-Pennsylvania line. He reports "about 49 deer are at large in Trumbull county at present." Conservation Commissioner L. Woodell reports deer seen in 12 Ohio counties by field men in the past three months.

Hunters need not wear numbers on their backs, as prescribed by a recent law, until after Jan. 1, 1938. The squirrel season opens Sept. 25 and closes Oct. 10, both dates inclusive. Limit four per day or eight in possession after the first day. In spite of a heavy mast crop squirrels are reported scarce in most parts of the state.

The Chinese-Japan unpleasantness has caused a sharp drop in prices of ginseng, a root used in the preparation of the American ginseng; many farm boys and experienced diggers from town usually take hundreds of pounds from Ohio woods each year.

The prevailing price is said to be about 36 cents per ounce. 22,725 pheasants have been liberated in Ohio fields this year by the Conservation Division up to Aug. 25, the Division reports. Also 327,594 crayfish, weighing 4,288 pounds, were placed in waters believed deficient in fish forage. Sharon (Pa.) Herald employees with co-operation of the management, have constructed a large, elaborately equipped recreation lodge along Pymatuning river, at Orangeville, in Ohio.

Two of Salem's eight men's bowling leagues opened their 1937-1938 seasons at the Masonic Temple and Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The American league started its season at the Masonic lanes with the defending champion Ohio Edison team taking Reich Sports in three games; Mullins Press Room defeating Electric Furnace in two out of three heats, and the Masons whipping Fernengel's Colts in two out of three.

Arthur Smith of the Ohio Edison had a 547 series and Arch Wentz of the Masons a 540 to lead high scorers.

The Pure Oils, Economy V-8's, Mullins Evaporators and Schullers won city circuit games at the Grate drives.

The Pure Oils won from Harris Garage; Economy's defeated the East End, and Mullins Evaporators and Schullers won on forfeits.

In other matches, Flooding & Reynard Drugs won two out of three games from the Salem Motors Club and the Colonial Billiards took two out of three from the Tigers.

C. Decrow of the Evaporators had the high three-game score for the night with 540.

Rabbit Maranville Seeks Job As Big League Pilot

"There'd Be Nothing To It," Famous Old-Timer Says About Managing Big Time Club

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—Rabbit Maranville looked over the "help-wanted—major league managers" columns today and announced himself ready, willing and able to step back into the big time.

After two years in the bushes producing miracles at Elmira, N. Y., and Montreal, the Rabbit figures "it would be a cinch managing a big league club."

"Boy, there's nothing to it," he explained carefully. "After handling an outfit in the minors, it would be a lead pipe cinch to take over a club in the big leagues. All the players up there have been taught how to play. There's no grinding the same thing day after day—you tell them once and they stay told. And, confidentially (Cincinnati, St. Louis and way points, please note) there's nothing standing in the way of the Rabbit's return to the big tent, where he was a large part of the show for 23 years, with Boston's Bees (nee Braves).

Maranville can feel plenty proud over his job this year even though his club was knocked out of the governor's cup playoffs by Baltimore last night. Given a squad of more veterans who weren't rated any too well, sprinkled here and there with doubtful youngsters, he put together a clicking combination of Montreal Royals that wound up second only to Newark's wonder team in the International league.

Last year in the Class A New York-Penn. league, he piloted the lowly-regarded Elmira Pioneers to the second-half season championship, and, winding up his playing career, made the league's All-Star team at second base.

GULDAHL WINS GOLF PLAYOFF

National Champion Is Winner Over Smith In Western Open

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Ralph Guldhall, the 25-year-old Chicagoan, occupied today a new niche in goldmine's hall of fame as the first in history to win the National Open and the Western Open championships in the same year.

He also was the fourth golfer in all history to successfully defend his Western Open championship, ranking with Willie Anderson, "Long Jim" Barnes, and Walter Hagen.

By defeating Horton Smith of Chicago by four strokes at Canterbury Golf club yesterday in a playoff for the Western Open crown, Guldhall added $500 in tournament prize money to the sizeable purse he had accumulated over the winter circuit and the summer itinerary, where his standout performance came in winning the National Open by setting a new record with a 72-hole card of 281.

Guldhall also won, as an added prize, half of the gate receipts for the 18-hole play-off, amounting to around $300.

Along with Smith and most of the travelling pros who competed in the Western, Guldhall enters tomorrow the International match play tournament at Boston where he will be ranked as an outstanding favorite.

NEW YORK—Maxie Berger, 134½, New York, and George Zengaras, 135½, New York, drew (8).
BUFFALO, N. Y.—Irving Packer, 157½, Toronto, outpointed Jimmy Clark, 155½, Jamestown, N. Y., (6).

PAST RECORDS "OUT" IN CUBS, GIANTS FRAYS

National Loop Leaders Start Crucial Series Today

By SID FEDER

From all angles the Cubs and Giants figure to show a brand new way of going about the business of beating off each other's ears in their current crucial series for the National league pennant.

Simply because they're two altogether different ball clubs than they were as late as a month ago, all performances in their previous meetings can be tossed into the discard in figuring the three-game set that got under way in Chicago today.

The Giants with more power and a vast improvement in their two top right-handers, Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert, are far stronger than the team which has lost 11 of 19 games to the Cubs this year.

Chicago, on the other hand, boasts three far improved twirlers in Larry French, Tex Carleton and comebacking Curt Davis. With Ripper Collins back after a month's hospital stay, and Gabby Hartnett hammering the cover off the ball, they are well up in their stock of pitchers' poison.

King Carl Hubbell will probably see action for the Giants only as a relief finger, if at all. He was taking a well-earned rest today after becoming the first National league pitcher to win 20 games this year, with an elegant four-hit, seven-inning relief trick against the Cardinals yesterday, as the Giants gassed the Gas House Gang 10-3.

This left the New Yorkers 2½ games in front, since the second place Cubs beat Brooklyn 5-4 after stopping a four-run Dodger rally in the ninth.

Hubbell missed by some three hours the distinction of becoming the first 20-game winner in the big leagues. Lefty Gomez beat him to it with a four-hit, 5-0 win for the Yankees over the Tigers.

Lefty Larry goes against Harry Gumbert in the opener today. In the other tilts on yesterday's curtailed program, the Browns and Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader. St. Louis winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-5. All other clubs had the day off.

LEAGUE SELECTS EXECUTIVE UNIT

Kennedy, Fifer, Phillips Named to Commercial League Committee

Team captains of the Commercial Bowling league met at the Grate Recreation alleys last night and elected Ralph Kennedy of Leetonia and Arthur Fifer and Ralph Phillips of Salem to memberships on the league's executive committee.

H. I. Hine, president of the league, and Ted Detwiler, secretary, who was elected to this post when Phillips submitted his resignation, will also serve on the committee. Two additional rules for league bowling were adopted at the meeting. One provides for figuring a team's average when it is rolling a blind score. This rule states that if only four members of a team are present, a score of 140 will be taken as the average of the fifth man in order to determine the team average and fix a handicap prior to the start of a game.

The other rule which was passed was in regard to substitutes. This rule says that no substitutions may be made after a man has rolled his first ball without the consent of the opposing team captain. In case a substitution is made, the handicap will remain the same as figured at the start of a game.

Vaughn and Gamiere Renew Ring Rivalry

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Jimmy Vaughn and Mike Gamiere renew over the ten-round route at public hall tonight a rivalry which last month produced one of the most gruelling fights waged here in years.

A $100 forfeit was posted with the Cleveland Boxing commission to guarantee Gamiere will weigh 136 and Vaughn 135 pounds for the scrap that opens the indoor boxing season here.

In their last battle, Gamiere suffered a badly cut eye early in the fight but fought off the referee who intended to stop it, and carried on to the finish.

G. O. P. OUTLINES CONGRESS DRIVE

In the congressional campaign of 1938.

The latter contest, he said, "will be far more than a preliminary skirmish."

This week's conferences, aimed primarily at building foundations for next year's campaign, were called by National Chairman John Hamilton with a two-fold purpose:

To obtain reports on local sentiment and trends in regions of concentrated voting power and advice on what the party can do to regain some of that power.

To submit reports on what the national committee is doing in an effort to wrest seats from Democratic congressmen.

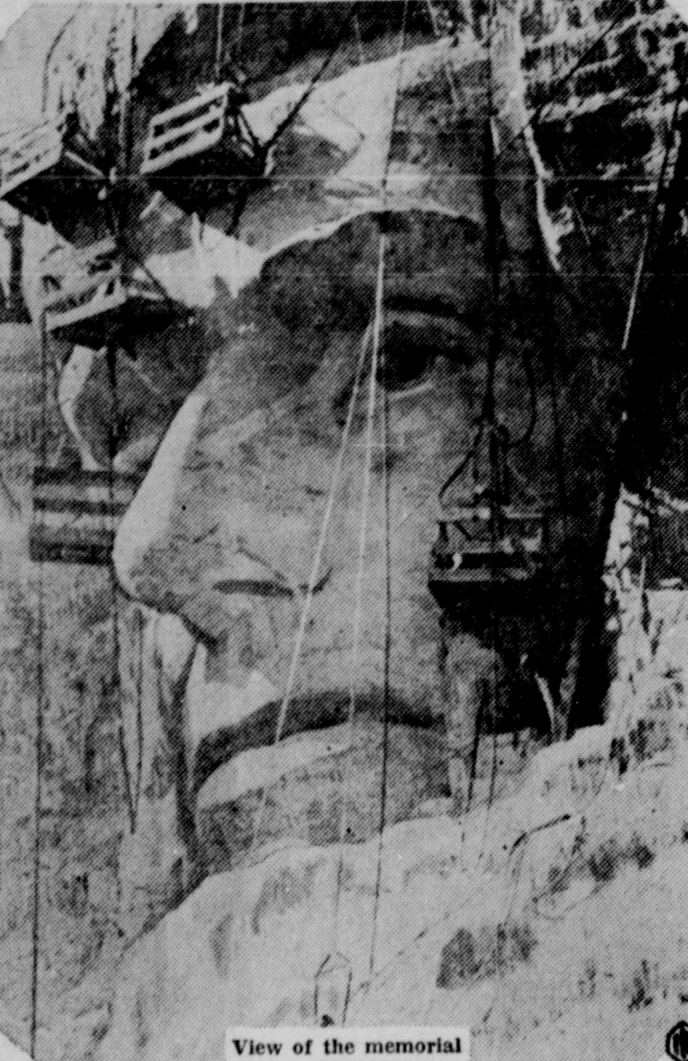

Plans Chicago Rally

In addition, Hamilton was considering asking the executive committee to set a date—perhaps in November or December—for a meeting of the full national committee in Chicago.

Committee attaches said they had little doubt the two parties also would include informal discussions, at least, of two intra-party issues—a suggestion by former President Hoover that an off-year convention be held and another by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that Republicans and anti-administration Democrats form a coalition.

Because the two proposals have brought varying reactions among party stalwarts, some Republican spokesmen expressed the belief the executive committee would maintain an official silence.

Unveil Lincoln Memorial Face

View of the memorial

Unveiled on the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution, the huge likeness of Abraham Lincoln, part of the "Shrine of Democracy" memorial on Mount Rushmore, near Rapid City, S. D., was dedicated before a crowd of 5,000.

F. D. R. SET FOR WESTERN TRIP

Leaves Tomorrow for Series of Talks and Conferences

(By Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt will start tomorrow on one of his most energetic cross-country conference and speaking trips since he took office.

In the short space of two weeks, he will make a score or more appearances in eight northwestern and middle western states, leave American shores for a brief visit by destroyer to British Columbia, inspect many federal projects, and deliver at least one "major" speech, at Bonneville dam, near Portland, Oregon.

His first rear platform talk, under a tentative itinerary announced late yesterday at the summer white house, will be made Friday morning at Cheyenne, Wyoming, home town of Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), an anti-court bill leader who penciled the opposition surrender terms when the administration finally gave in on the Supreme Court increase plan.

He also will visit the home state of Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), another court bill opposition chief, and Boise, Idaho, home city of Senator Borah, Republican foe of the bill that was returned to the judiciary committee after the death of Majority Leader Robinson.

Enroute to Seattle and back he will stop in Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Illinois.

Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre said there would be only one formal address of the "major" type—at Bonneville dam next Tuesday morning. Other talks would be extemporaneous, he said.

He added that senators and possibly some state and local party leaders would board the train for conferences during the 6,000-mile swing, which the President has described as one to be devoted more to listening than talking, and to afford him an opportunity to see for himself some of the largest federal navigation, power and flood control projects.

He will leave around 3 p. m. eastern standard time tomorrow, traveling via Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha toward Cheyenne, but making no appearances enroute.

American representative in Nanking in 1927 when British and American destroyers bombarded the capital to effect the evacuation of foreigners from the city which was then in the throes of Civil war.

Anxious eyes scanned the mid-day skies for the heralded approach of the Japanese bombing squadrons. At the military air-dromes the fleet Chinese fighting craft—the city's main defense—were tuned up and on the line ready to take to the air.

High over head, scouting planes sat seemingly perched on cloud banks waiting to signal the approach of the Japanese raiders.

Soft-slipped Chinese—our servants among them—were fleeing the city by the thousands. They rushed quietly through the gloomy streets to the bombproof caves scooped out of the nearby hills.

AKRON, Sept. 21.—The United Rubber Workers of America voted to meet next year at Trenton, N. J., taking the convention away from Akron for the first time. The 1938 convention city was chosen last night as 200 delegates wound up an eight-day session. New officers were installed at closing sessions.

Here and There About Town

Fined By Mayor

Frank Mount of Newark was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license, and also was fined $15 and costs on a charge of hit-skip, after his car struck a machine operated by John Kibler of New Garden on Route 9 near New Garden Saturday night.

Mayor George Harroff fined Mount Monday and also fined Frank Lorenz, Wooster, $10 and costs for allowing another man to use his driver's license. The arrests were made by State Patrolman W. E. Arrey.

Automobiles Damaged

Patrolmen Paul Ormsby and Clifford Todd couldn't find the driver of a machine whose car sideswiped and considerably damaged three other cars parked on S. Ellsworth ave., near the Mullins plant at 9:05 p. m. Monday.

Machines operated by George Benner of 872 Newgarden st., and S. A. Gonda of 809 Washington ave., figured in a minor collision at 4:30 p. m. yesterday at the intersection of N. Howard ave. and W. Pershing st.

'Hoppers In Class

NEWBURGH, Ind. — A grasshopper plague has invaded the classroom. Teachers complained their schools were "literally alive" with the grasshoppers, and that the children, particularly the girls, were disturbed by the pests.

The teachers said they had killed "hundreds" of the insects.

Thresh Out Cash

BEND, Ore. — Eyes of harvesters on the W. R. Gerking ranch bulged when nickels, dimes and quarters started tumbling from a clover thresher. The crew threshed $3.85.

Gerking said he thought the money was from a purse lost in the field last spring.

PASADENA, Cal.—Pasadena has—or, rather, had—an eight-man team of rat catchers. The squad resigned after turning in a record of 10,088 rats, squirrels and gophers. The retirement was not due to lack of more rats, but to a lack of salary allowances in the city funds.

NEW YORK VIEWS LEGION PARADE

notables reviewed the lines at the Grand Army plaza at 59th street. Another grandstand was erected in front of the New York public library at 42nd street.

Board Up Windows

Proprietors of shops along the parade route boarded up their windows to protect them from the dense throng, increased in size by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia's proclamation designating the day as an official municipal holiday.

Necks craned skyward to watch 96 army air corps planes antic in flight formation over the long parade.

Staid Fifth avenue itself was unrecognizable beneath the flaunting gaiety of brilliant banners and flags.

Although official Legion sessions were adjourned until tomorrow, many reunions and receptions were scheduled throughout the day.

Committee members, drafting resolutions expected to prove more controversial than any submitted at recent Legion conventions, worked overtime.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, speaking at the national commander's dinner last night, said the United States in its pursuit of peace should avoid extremes and follow a policy of "enlightened nationalism."

Advises Middle Course

Secretary Hull said the nation would have to steer a middle course between utter isolation from world affairs and complete entanglement in them if it wished to avoid war.

Utter isolation, he declared, "would be closing our eyes to the realities of the world today, and assuming, like the courtiers of King Chanute, that the rising tide of international anarchy can be stopped before it reaches us."

Former President Herbert Hoover was a surprise guest at the dinner, attended also by 17 state governors, Secretary of War Harry Woodring and Legion officials.

In a brief speech—one of his few public addresses since leaving the White House—Mr. Hoover urged "adequate preparation for national defense."

Mr. Hoover praised Secretary Hull, who spoke before him, as a public official who "holds our confidence and good will."

"No matter what our domestic differences may be, when the secretary of state speaks, he speaks for the whole American people," he said. "And the secretary's task today is no light task."

Game Warden Gives Tips To Hunters As Seasons Near

The squirrel law limiting hunters to "four a day or eight in possession after the first day," received new interpretation today from the office of Lon Boring, county game warden, Lisbon, to the effect that "only four squirrels could be killed by the hunter in any one day."

The hunters may go out after squirrel at the crack of dawn the opening day. Squirrel season ends Oct. 10.

While many hunters of the city were oiling their guns preparatory to start of the season Sept. 23, some were confused as to the limit. The problem of hunting on the second day and taking eight had arisen, but the announcement from the game warden's office indicated that the hunter would be safe if he had only four in his possession.

The rabbit season opens Nov. 15 and will end Jan. 1. The limit for rabbits is five in one day.

Pheasant and Hungarian partridge may be hunted starting Nov. 15 and extending for a 15-day period.

The open season for red fox, of which there are not many in Columbiana county, was fixed at noon Nov. 15. Gray fox may be taken any time throughout the state. The season on red fox will end Feb. 1.
